Zurich, Switzerland – SIX Telekurs enriches the news services available in its global display and market data feed products to include eleven financial news sources focusing on the Nordic countries.

SIX Telekurs is a leading provider of international financial data, of which financial news is a fundamental part. The additional news services which have been integrated into SIX Telekurs' display and market data products are SIX News Sweden, SIX News Norway, TDN Finans, Startel, Kauppalehti Online and RB Börsen. In addition, press releases from Nordic companies are sourced from Cision, Nasdaq OMX, Oslo Börs, NG News and Hellink.

SIX Telekurs has a strong Nordic presence, with offices in Stockholm, Gothenburg, Copenhagen, Helsinki, and Oslo. The additional news sources are important for both local and international clients. Local players need access to the news that moves their particular markets. International banks, who have Nordic desks outside of the region, serving as access points for their clients to the Nordic markets, also need specialized information.

Fredrik Koch, Head of Product Development, SIX Telekurs Nordics, comments: "Real-time news covering your own markets is a must-have if you want to stay ahead. With these significant additions, SIX Telekurs is able to provide a full range of top-rated news services to all our clients."

Market professionals can now access market news from leading Nordic sources in all of SIX Telekurs' display and market data feed offerings, including Telekurs iD, SIX Edge, MDF and apiD. These news services will be sold on an add-on basis.
